

DISCLAIMER FOR FACEBOOK

This page is the property of Newtown Township. The Township has established this page to provide residents with information on events and news throughout the Township. Though all users are permitted to like, comment upon and/or share any and all content of the Township's page, in accordance with the Township Facebook policy, this page is not intended to be a public forum. Newtown Township does not endorse or support any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Newtown Township will not respond to any comments posted by users on this page. All communication with the Township shall occur through email or by telephone at the email address or telephone number listed on this page. Users should call 911 for all emergencies. The Township assumes no liability in connection with any content on this page including any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Any comments posted by users on this page will be deleted within seven (7) days of posting without regard to the content contained therein.

DISCLAIMER FOR LINKEDIN

This page is the property of Newtown Township. The Township has established this page to provide residents with information on events and news throughout the Township. Though all users are permitted to like, comment upon and/or share any and all content of the Township's page, in accordance with the Township's LinkedIn policy, this page is not intended to be a public forum. Newtown Township does not endorse or support any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Newtown Township will not respond to any comments posted by users on this page. All communication with the Township shall occur through email or by telephone at the email address or telephone number listed on this page. Users should call 911 for all emergencies. The Township assumes no liability in connection with any content on this page including any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Any comments posted by users on this page will be deleted within seven (7) days of posting without regard to the content contained therein.

DISCLAIMER FOR TWITTER

This account is the property of Newtown Township. The Township has established this account to provide residents with information on events and news throughout the Township. Though all users are permitted to like, comment upon and/or share any and all content of the Township's account, in accordance with the Township's Twitter policy, this page is not intended to be a public forum. Newtown Township does not endorse or support any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Newtown Township will not respond to any comments posted by users on this page. All communication with the Township shall occur through email or by telephone at the email address or telephone number listed on this page. Users should call 911 for all emergencies. The Township assumes no liability in connection with any content on this page including any likes, comments and/or sharing of the content of the Township's page.

Any comments posted by users on this page will be deleted within seven (7) days of posting without regard to the content contained therein.